The Center for Continuing Education and the Alumni Association of the University of Chicago again take pleasure in inviting all of our alumni and their spouses and friends of the University to return to campus for ALUMNI COLLEGE '77. We invite you to spend the week of July 25 to 30, 1977, with prominent members of the faculty in a provocative educational program in the University of Chicago College tradition. The title of our program is LIFE CYCLE. It will examine the life of the American today—growing up, being educated, raising a family, working, growing old, and dying.

Lecturers and their topics are:

- 1 KENNETH KAYE, Assistant Professor Department of Education: Infancy-Early Childhood
- 2 SUSAN S. STODOLSKY, Associate Professor Departments of Education and Behavioral Sciences (Human Development): Early School Years
- 3 EDGAR G. EPPS, Marshall Field Professor Department of Education: Adolescence
- 4 ARTHUR SCHWARTZ, Associate Professor School of Social Service Administration and Department of Psychiatry: Young Adulthood

At ALUMNI COLLEGE '77 you will attend two lectures each morning followed by an informal discussion and question period. Afternoons and evenings will provide time for participating in a variety of group activities or for just going off on your own. Group activities will include an evening at Ravinia, University Theater performances, informal talks with other University faculty and administrators, a visit to the Treasures of Tutankhamun and to the Art Institute, and a number of social events.

- 5 ARNITA BOSWELL, Field Work Associate Professor School of Social Service Administration: Marriage and the American Family
- 6 MIHALY CSIKSZENTMIHALYI, Associate Professor Department of Behavioral Sciences and the College and Chairman Human Behavior and Institutions Program (the College) and Associate Master, Social Sciences Collegiate Division: Work and Creativity
- 7 SALVATORE R. MADDI, Professor Department of Behavioral Sciences (Human Development) and the College and Director Divisional Master's Program: Stress
- 8 MORTON A. LIEBERMAN, Professor Departments of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences (Human Development): Transitions of Adulthood

ALUMNI COLLEGE '77 is a non-credit program. There are no papers to write or homework assignments, but we will send you materials to read in advance so that you can make the most of the lectures and discussions in which you will be participating. During Alumni College you will be staying at the modern and spacious Center for Continuing Education, which provides comfortable hotel-type air-conditioned sleeping, meeting, and eating facilities under one roof.

We hope you'll come and join us.

*All the world's a stage,
 And all the men and women merely players:
 They have their exits and their entrances;
 And one man in his time plays many parts,
 His acts being seven ages. At first the infant,
 Mewling and puking in the nurse's arms.
 And then the whining schoolboy, with his satchel,
 And shining morning face, creeping like snail
 Unwillingly to school. And then the lover,
 Sighing like furnace, with a woful ballad
 Made to his mistress' eyebrow. Then a soldier,
 Full of strange oaths, and bearded like the pard,
 Jealous in honour, sudden and quick in quarrel,
 Seeking the bubble reputation
 Even in the cannon's mouth. And then the justice,*

*In fair round belly with good capon lin'd,
 With eyes severe, and beard of formal cut,
 Full of wise saws and modern instances;
 And so he plays his part. The sixth age shifts
 Into the lean and slipper'd pantaloon,
 With spectacles on nose and pouch on side,
 His youthful hose well sav'd a world too wide
 For his shrunk shank; and his big manly voice,
 Turning again towards childish treble, pipes
 And whistles in his sound. Last scene of all,
 That ends this strange eventful history,
 Is second childishness, and mere oblivion,
 Sans teeth, sans eyes, sans taste, sans everything.*
